2. Authorized Users.

Access to content on JSTOR is available for “Authorized Users” meaning:

(a) individuals who are affiliated with an Institutional Licensee, as defined below. This includes:

i. for educational non-profit and for-profit Institutional Licensees (such as colleges, universities, and secondary schools): currently enrolled students (including distance education students who are currently enrolled students of the Institutional Licensee); on an ad hoc basis, researchers affiliated and/or visiting under the terms of an agreement with the Institutional Licensee; full and part-time staff; and on-site users physically present and authorized to be on the Institutional Licensee's premises (“Walk-In Users”);

iii. for museums; foundations; government agencies; corporate and for-profit organizations (other than for-profit educational organizations); and research center Institutional Licensees: full and part-time staff; on an ad hoc basis, researchers and lecturers affiliated and/or visiting under the terms of an agreement with the Institutional Licensee; and Walk-In Users;

5. Prohibited Uses of the Content.

In addition to agreeing to any Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use, you agree that you will not:

(a) use or authorize the use of the JSTOR Platform or Content for commercial purposes or gains, including charging a fee-for-service for the use of JSTOR beyond reasonable printing or administrative costs. For purposes of clarification, “commercial purposes or gains” shall not include research whose end-use is commercial in nature.

(c) attempt to override, circumvent, or disable any encryption features or software protections employed in the JSTOR Platform;

(d) undertake any activity such as computer programs that automatically download or export Content, commonly known as web robots, spiders, crawlers, wanderers or accelerators that may interfere with, disrupt or otherwise burden the JSTOR server(s) or any third-party server(s) being used or accessed in connection with JSTOR; or
(e) make any use, display, performance, reproduction, or distribution that exceeds or violates these Terms and Conditions of Service and the Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use.

7. Responsibilities of Authorized Users.

7.1 Authorized Users are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality and security of their username and/or password (if such are provided), and for all usage or activity by them of JSTOR. Except as permitted for certain Content, Authorized Users may not provide access to JSTOR to anyone else, including by setting up an anonymous remailer for purposes of allowing access to JSTOR.

7.2 Authorized Users promptly shall notify JSTOR and, where applicable, their affiliated Institutional Licensee, of any known or suspected unauthorized use(s) of their account or JSTOR, or any known or suspected breach of security, including loss, theft, or unauthorized disclosure or use of their username, password, and/or IP address. Any use of JSTOR beyond the scope or in violation of these Terms and Conditions of Service or Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use, knowing use of any password or username of another, or any fraudulent, abusive, or otherwise illegal activity, may be grounds for termination of an Authorized Users account, or termination of access to JSTOR from their IP address, without notice and at JSTOR's sole discretion.

7.3 Where Authorized Users are able to submit material and/or post comments to JSTOR, Authorized Users represent and warrant that they will not upload or otherwise publish through JSTOR any materials that: (a) are protected by copyright, or other proprietary or intellectual property rights; (b) are libelous, defamatory, obscene, pornographic, abusive, or invasive of another’s privacy or hateful; or (c) contain a virus, spyware, or other harmful component, advertising of any kind, or false or misleading indications of origin or statements of fact. Authorized Users acknowledge and agree that any material that they submit or comment that they post may be edited, removed, modified, and/or published by JSTOR without notice. Authorized Users agree to indemnify and hold JSTOR harmless from any and all liability and costs incurred in connection with any claim arising out of their breach of the foregoing representations and warranties. Authorized Users will cooperate as fully as reasonably required in the defense of any claim. JSTOR reserves the right, at its own expense, to assume the exclusive defense and control of any matter subject to indemnification by Authorized Users.

8. Intellectual Property Rights

8.1 General Intellectual Property Rights. The JSTOR Platform and any trademarks, issued patents and patent applications, copyrights and copyright registrations and applications, rights in ideas, designs, works of authorship, derivative works, and all other intellectual property rights (collectively, "Intellectual Property") relating to the JSTOR Platform and its participating libraries, universities, publishers, scholarly societies, and journals are proprietary to JSTOR or, as applicable, the aforementioned entities, subject to the rights of third parties. Institutional Licensees and Authorized Users' use of JSTOR implies no rights to Intellectual Property except for the limited rights set forth in the Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use.

8.2 Trademarks. Neither JSTOR nor Institutional Licensees may use the other's name or trademark and Institutional Licensees and users may not use the name or trademarks of the above-noted entities in a way likely to cause confusion as to the origin of goods or services, or to endorse or show affiliation with the other, except as specifically approved. Notwithstanding the foregoing, (i) JSTOR may use Institutional Licensees' names and/or the names of their libraries in brochures or other materials to identify Institutional Licensees as participants in JSTOR along with other participants, and (ii) Institutional Licensees are encouraged to use JSTOR's name and logo to announce participation to Authorized Users and to train Authorized Users on the use of JSTOR.

Terms and Conditions for Use for Journals, Plants, GIS Data, Select Other Content Types, and Data for Research

In addition to the JSTOR Terms of Service, this page describes the specific terms and conditions for use of the JSTOR Platform in accessing the following types of content described below:

- Journal Back Issues and Current Issues, as well as manuscripts and monographs (i.e. scholarly essays) but not Early Journal Content
- Individual Journal articles and/or issues purchased through the Publisher Sales Service
- Spatial/Geographic Information System Data
- Global Plants Content
- Data for Research
- Register & Read Content

These terms apply to individual users, as well as institutions accessing these types of Content through the JSTOR Platform. These terms are subject to the agreement entered into between JSTOR and a user's affiliated institution, such as a user's college or university. If you have questions about your affiliated institution's participation agreement with JSTOR, please contact your librarian.

(...) Definitions.

1.1 "Content" means journal Back Issues and Current Issues (as further described in Sections 7.1 and 7.2, below) as well as portions of such journals, including articles and book reviews (each independently "Textual Content") but not including Early Journal Content; manuscripts and monographs (each independently also "Textual Content"); Data for Research (defined below); spatial/geographic information systems ("GIS") data; plant specimens ("Global Plants Content"); JPASS Content, Register & Read Content (defined below); and other materials made available by JSTOR.

1.2 “Data for Research” means data provided by JSTOR specifically for the purpose of textual extractions; describing and/or identifying content, usage, and operations; or cataloging information pertaining to the Content, to be used in research involving computational analysis rather than for purposes of understanding the intellectual meaning of such data.

(...) Uses of Licensed Content.

2.1 Permitted Uses. Institutional Licensees and/or Authorized Users (as defined in the JSTOR Terms and Conditions of Service) may search, view, reproduce, display, download, print, perform, and distribute Licensed Content for the following Permitted Uses, provided they abide by the restrictions in Sections 3 and elsewhere in these Terms and Conditions of Use and the JSTOR Terms and Conditions of Service. Permitted Uses may be undertaken within the premises of an Authorized User's affiliated Institutional Licensee. Except in the case of Authorized Users who are Walk-In Users, Permitted Uses also may be undertaken remotely through secure access methods:

(a) research activities;

(b) classroom or organizational instruction and related classroom or organizational activities;

(c) student assignments;
(d) as part of a scholarly, cultural, educational or organizational presentation or workshop, if such use conforms to the customary and usual practice in the field;

(e) authors or other Content creators may at their discretion incorporate their Content into unrestricted databases or website with prior permission from the publisher and other applicable rights holders;

(f) linking (see Section 4 below);

and for Content other than Register & Read Content:

(g) on an ad hoc basis and without commercial gain or in a manner that would substitute for direct access to the Content via services offered by JSTOR, sharing discrete Textual Content or Global Plants Content for purposes of collaboration, comment, or the scholarly exchange of ideas;

(h) downloading Textual Content to view, use and display including on a personal digital device (e.g. mobile devices, e-readers, and personal computers);

(i) in research papers or dissertations, including reproductions of the dissertations, provided such reproductions are only for personal use, library deposit, and/or use solely within the institution(s) with which the Authorized User and/or his or her faculty readers are affiliated; and

2.2 Should an Institutional Participation Agreement, or JPASS Agreement terminate or expire, the Institutional Licensee's affiliated Authorized Users or the JPASS User may continue making use of Books, Textual Content and Global Plants Content that have been downloaded or printed out. Likewise, users who purchase content through the Publisher Sales Service (including purchased Register & Read Content) may continue to make use of downloaded or printed out copies of the content. In such cases, such uses of downloaded or printed out content shall comply with these Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use, which shall survive the termination of access under the Institutional Participation Agreement or other user agreement.

2.3 Additional Permitted Uses of Data for Research. Institutional Licensees and/or Authorized Users (as defined in the JSTOR Terms and Conditions of Service) may use Data for Research to perform research activities involving computational analysis rather than for purposes of understanding the intellectual meaning of such content. Institutional Licensees and/or Authorized Users may search, view, reproduce, display, download, print, perform, and distribute Data for Research for the following Permitted Uses, provided they abide by the restrictions set forth in Section 3 and elsewhere described in these Terms and Conditions of Use and the JSTOR Terms and Conditions of Service:

(a) searching the JSTOR archive using the Data for Research search function;

(b) downloading chart data to view, use and display as Excel-compatible CSV files;

(c) viewing document-level data including word frequencies, citations, key terms and ngrams;

(d) requesting and downloading datasets containing word frequencies, citations, key terms, or ngrams associated with the Data for Research selected; and

(e) subject to registration with JSTOR, using the REST API for content selection retrieval.
2.4 Additional use of Data for Research and the REST API are subject to JSTOR’s approval. Please see the Data for Research registration page for further information http://dfr.jstor.org/accounts/register/.

Institutions and users may not:

(a) modify, obscure, or remove any copyright notice or other attribution included in the Content;

(b) attempt to override, circumvent, or disable any encryption features or software protections employed in the JSTOR Platform;

(c) incorporate Content into an unrestricted database or website, except as provided in 2.1(e) above;

(d) systematically print out or download Content to stock or replace print holdings;

(e) make any use, display, performance, reproduction, or distribution that exceeds or violates these Terms and Conditions of Service or the Content-Specific Terms and Conditions of Use;

(f) download or print, or attempt to download or print an entire issue of a journal (unless such entire issue has been purchased through the Publishers Sales Service) or substantial portions of the entire run of a journal, except for the specific case in which the complete contents of a journal issue or a substantial portion of Textual Content (e.g. a series of scholarly essays) is relevant to the particular research;

(g) undertake coordinated or systematic activity between or among two or more individuals and/or entities that, in the aggregate, constitutes downloading and/or distributing a significant portion of the Content; or

(h) reproduce or distribute Content in bulk, such as the inclusion of Content including portions of Content (e.g. individual articles and/or journal issues) or Content in course packs, electronic reserves, repositories, or organizational intranets (but see Section 4, below).

4. Linking.

JSTOR encourages the use of links to facilitate access to the Content by Authorized Users and Institutional Licensees, including but not limited to links to online syllabi, bibliographies, and reading lists. All Content has a stable URL that can be found in the Browse and Search interfaces of JSTOR's website as well as on the Article Information page each discrete Content item. Further information on establishing stable links to material in JSTOR may be obtained from User Support (support@jstor.org).

5. Interlibrary Loan.

Institutional Licensees may wish to use the Content for the purpose of fulfilling occasional requests from other libraries, a practice commonly called Interlibrary Loan. Institutional Licensees may use Licensed Content that consists of Textual Content or Global Plants Content for Interlibrary Loan provided that such use is not at a volume that would substitute for a subscription to the journal or participation in JSTOR by the receiving institution and is in accordance with United States or international copyright laws, guidelines, or conventions. By way of example, Institutional Licensees shall comply with the CONTU Guidelines, available at http://www.cni.org/docs/infopols/CONTU.html unless the Institutional Licensee is subject to similar international guidelines or customary and usual practices regarding Interlibrary Loan. Transmission of Licensed Content that consists of Textual Content or Global Plants Content from one library to another (but not directly to users) through post or fax, or secure electronic transmission, such as Ariel or its equivalent, may be used in Interlibrary Loan. To facilitate direct contact with publishers for the provision of Textual Content outside the allowable scope of Interlibrary Loan or for other permissions, Publisher information is available at http://about.jstor.org/jstor-publishers.

Terms and Conditions of Use for Early Journal Content

The following Terms and Conditions of Use apply to Early Journal Content. For clarity, this is the full set of terms for Early Journal Content. The JSTOR Terms and Conditions outlined above do not apply to Early Journal Content.

2. Permitted Uses of the Content.

JSTOR encourages broad use of the Early Journal Content. Users are free to copy, use, and redistribute the Early Journal Content in part or in whole for non-commercial purposes.

Please be considerate of other users and do not use robots or other devices or coordinate activity to systematically download these works as this may be disruptive to our systems.

3. Attribution.

JSTOR asks that you acknowledge JSTOR as the source of the Early Journal Content; if you use material from JSTOR online, we request that you link directly to the stable URL provided. If you use Early Journal Content offline, we ask that you credit the source as follows: “Courtesy of JSTOR.”

4. Disclaimer.

Users of Early Journal Content should note that third-party rights besides copyright (such as rights of publicity and privacy) may apply, and use of certain images or other materials may require additional permissions from third parties. Users shall hold JSTOR harmless and assume sole responsibility for addressing issues of publicity and privacy and any other third party rights, and obtaining necessary permissions, as they relate to use of the Early Journal Content.
